16. Liquidated Damages

16.1 The Contractor shall pay liquidated damages to the Employer at the rate 0.001 per cent of the Contract price per day for each day that the actual Completion Date is later than the Intended Completion Date except in the case of any of the occurrences listed under clause 9.2. The Employer may deduct liquidated damages from payments due to the Contractor. Payment of liquidated damages shall not affect the Contractor's liabilities.

17. Completion and Taking Over

17.1 Upon deciding that the Work is complete the Contractor shall request the Employer's Representative to issue a Certificate of Completion of the Works, upon deciding that the Work is completed.

The Employer shall take over the Site and the Works within seven days of the Employer's Representative issuing a Certificate of Completion.

SECTION IV – SPECIFICATIONS, DRAWINGS AND BILLS OF QUANTITIES/SCHEDULE OF RATES

I. SPECIFICATIONS

Section I

1.1: Drilling

The objective of drilling shall be to install a plumb 17-inch (445mm) open bore to the recommended depth or to a final depth instructed by the Engineer. The Contractor shall be responsible for selecting the drilling method and neither the Client nor the Engineer shall be held responsible should the method deployed fail in the objective of drilling the borehole to specification. Foam and other additives used must be suited to environmental applications. The Contractor shall be responsible for ensuring that the additives deployed are suitable for the anticipated conditions and shall supply the Engineer with the additive specifications on request. Fluid additives of a bentonitic clay type will not be acceptable for use in these Works: if additives are required, a cellulose-based reconstituted powder or artificial liquid polymeric additive may be used for viscosity enhancement. However, bentonite may be used to prevent loss of circulation in those parts of the borehole located above the aquifer zone. Authorisation for the use of bentonite for this purpose must be explicitly sought from and given by the Engineer in writing in advance.

5.1. Cleaning and Rehabilitation

All the boreholes to be rehabilitated / cleaned are currently not lined (cased). The purpose of cleaning shall be to clear the bore of any blockage and to ensure that the hole diameter is at least 17” (445mm) to final depth.

In case there is need to stabilize the borehole during cleaning, the conditions under “Drilling “above shall apply.

5.2. Reaming and Temporary Casing

If collapse occurs, temporary stabilization casing may be required. If so, and with the consent of the Engineer, the Contractor will ream the borehole and supply, install and remove appropriate temporary casing. A hole where temporary casing is not successfully removed from known aquifer zones will be considered a lost bore, and must be replaced at the Contractor's cost.

5.3. Sample Collection, Storage and Record Keeping

During drilling of new boreholes, the Contractor shall be responsible for collecting geological samples of dry weight 500g at 2m intervals and at prominent lithological boundaries. These are to be packed in polythene bags and marked with date of collection, depth interval and borehole name and number.

The Contractor shall keep a record of zones of loss in circulation, and rate of bit penetration in minutes per metre drilled. The depth of voids, particularly rapid penetration, or significant changes in geological condition shall also be noted. Water levels shall be measured and recorded at the start and end of every shift, after significant breaks in activity (such as meal breaks, if taken) and during periods of equipment downtime (as necessary). Water levels shall be measured using a sounding and / or lighting dipper approved for use by the Engineer.

5.4. Casing and Screens

Casings shall be new 8" (200mm) internal diameter 8-inch UPVC casing and continuous slot type screens suitable for water well applications in boreholes of up to 100m depth. The upper first aquifer of between 24 – 32 m shall be sealed off to avoid sand ingress during pumping and all the screened casings shall be placed below the anticipated dynamic pumping water level.

Alternative screens may be prepared using either plasma-cutting or machine-sawn slots, provided the method meets the specification of minimum 4% open area and slot width not greater than 1mm, subject to approval by the Engineer.

Before installation of casings and screens, the Contractor shall ensure that the hole is clear for the total depth of the bore and shall flush out any backfilled material if present. The Engineer shall draw up the final design of the borehole after drilling is satisfactorily completed. The top of the casing string at completion of construction shall terminate 0.30m above original ground level.

5.5. Gravel Pack

Gravel shall be used in packing the annular space within the water-bearing zones. The material shall be siliceous, clean and free of non-siliceous material. It shall consist of well rounded fine grains of 1-2mm or to size, which shall approved by the Engineer before installation. 66% chlorine granular calcium hypochlorite will be introduced into the annular space along with gravel pack at a concentration of 500 grammes dry weight per cubic metre of gravel pack. The gravel pack shall terminate not less than 10m above the uppermost slotted casing un-bridged, or as otherwise directed by the Engineer and shall be at least 4.5" around the annular space. The Contractor shall provide a means by which this level may be measured.

5.6. Backfill

Backfill material comprising fine or clayey drill cuttings shall be installed from the top of the bentonite / cement seal to 3m bgl unless otherwise directed by the Engineer. The installation method adopted must ensure that no bridging occurs within the annular space.

5.7. Borehole Development

The Contractor will choose what method to use to ensure a completely developed borehole. Methodologies for development must, however, be approved by the Engineer.

5.8. Borehole Pumping Tests

The borehole shall be comprehensively tested by step-drawdown, constant discharge and recovery tests. A one hour pre-test will precede formal tests during which the Contractor will test his equipment. A 5 by 2 hr step-drawdown test with no recovery measurements and a 24hr constant discharge and 24hr recovery test are envisaged.

Formal tests shall begin in the morning so that frequent early test time measurements are made during daylight hours. Pumps used in tests may be of any type provided they are approved by the Engineer. Intake depth will not be greater than 60 metres below ground level. Pumps must include an integral functioning non-return valve, or a non-return valve must be installed in the rising main immediately above the top of the pump.

Test discharges are expected to be in the range 40 to 50m³/hr at dynamic heads of 35 to 42 metres and the Contractor shall provide a pump or pumps covering this discharge and head range. The Contractor shall provide the specification for the pump or pumps he proposes to deploy for these works to the Engineer for approval.

The Contractor will ensure that water pumped from the borehole is discharged to waste at distances not less than 30m from the wellhead and in such a manner that it does not flow back towards the borehole, create excessive erosion or lead to localized flooding.

Discharge measurement shall be by an approved accurate method. Discharge shall be controlled by means of a globe valve of suitable diameter. Discharge shall not vary by more than 15% across each step of the step-drawdown test or the constant discharge test. Water level measurement shall be by an electric sounding and / or lighting dipper provided by the Contractor and approved by the Engineer, and shall be made in a dipper tube of diameter not exceeding 25mm.

All times shall be recorded by means of a stopwatch or similar approved timepiece. The Contractor shall ensure that spare batteries, bulbs, cables etc. for all equipment are available on site prior to commencing tests.

5.9. Water Level Measurements in Neighbouring Boreholes

Since there are other boreholes sharing the same aquifer, it is required that neighbouring boreholes be monitored throughout the pumping tests. Boreholes to be monitored will be indicated to the Contractor by the Engineer.

At least two boreholes shall be monitored during each pumping test: separate water level measuring equipment will be required for each monitoring borehole.

5.10. Water Sampling and Analysis

In the closing hour of the constant discharge test, water samples shall be collected from the new borehole for standard chemical, physical and bacteriological analyses at a water quality laboratory approved by the Engineer. Duplicate chemical water samples will be collected.

The Contractor shall ensure that the collection of a water sample for bacteriological analysis is undertaken correctly by a trained technician from the laboratory undertaking the analysis.

The Engineer shall check the completeness of chemical analyses. If the analysis is found inaccurate, it shall be repeated at the Contractor's cost including taking a duplicate water sample.

5.11. Wellbore Disinfection

After removal of test pumping equipment, the borehole shall be disinfected using a chlorine /water solution with a concentration of not less than 50mg/l of free chlorine. This will be sprayed into the borehole to ensure that all exposed borehole wall surfaces are coated. The Contractor should allow in his rates the provision of 2m³ of solution per borehole.

5.12. Borehole Head works

5.13.1 Sanitary seal

A sanitary seal and concrete plinth shall be constructed at the wellhead of the borehole.

The sanitary grout seal shall be installed between the 17” surface casing and the 8” well casing. Grout shall be of cement slurry, or cement and fine sand, with a density of not less than 1.75kg/l. This shall be introduced into the annular space from the top of the inert backfill at 3m bgl to 1m bgl, using a method approved by the Engineer.

5.13.2 Concrete plinth

The concrete plinth will comprise a 1 x 1 x 1 m pit excavated at the wellhead, which will be filled with concrete and finished flush with the ground surface. Concrete shall be 1:2:4, OPC: sand: 20/12mm ballast. This shall be cast with two 0.8m lengths of 12mm reinforcing bar welded horizontally to the 8” (200mm) casing 0.7m below ground level.

5.13.3 Capping the borehole

The Contractor shall supply and install a temporary seal for the borehole. This seal shall comprise a round plate of mild steel, of thickness not less than ¼” (approximately 6mm). This will be spot-welded to the mild steel sanitary seal casing so that the plate can be removed with a hammer and cold chisel.

5.13.4 Records

Pumping test times, discharge and water level data for the production borehole and observation boreholes will be forwarded to the Engineer within seven days of completion of tests. Copies of the field data sheets must be handed over to the Engineer on completion of the tests.

The following records shall be submitted to the Engineer within fourteen days of completion of works:

- Borehole number/name and schematic diagram of borehole in section;
- Results of chemical analysis;
- Copies of signed daily reports;
- Drilling penetration log;
- Driller's log;
